SLF Ltd a result of the founding members ten years experience in the shellfish purification sector.

SLF is the epitome of those realities born alongside mainly local fishing activities, and over the years has expanded its business, striving to meet the demands of its customers who are increasingly attentive to the actual value of a product.

SLF was found in 2001, in Frano, on the Adriatic coast between the Emilia Romagna and Abruzzo (Italy). As a natural consequence of its geographical location, the company specializes in the seafood purification field, which comprises 90% of the production, and which has become our core business.

Responsibly sourced

All of us at SLF Ltd are uncompromised in our commitment to sourcing only the finest quality products and delivering them to you in a timely, cost effective manner.

In any business, the three aforementioned factors (quality/timeliness/cost) ultimately determine the success of the company as well and the level of customer satisfaction.

Conventional business wisdom dictates that two of these three factors can be met with relative ease, but not all three. For example, excellent product may be delivered in a timely fashion, but it will be expensive. Or product may be inexpensive, and delivered quickly, but it will be of a low grade.

The company is specialized in the purification and distribution of seafood products, in stringent compliance with current hygiene and sanitary regulations, to ensure that microbiological characteristics meet consumption standards. Sophisticated closed-circuit system allows continuous monitoring of the oxygenation and salinity parameters of the water, to ensure that the purifying environment does not alter the chemical-physical characteristics of the products. Our analysis laboratory is central to the work we carry out in the microbiological control of all incoming and outgoing products.
